My Favorite Manager Reviews Reviews for My Favorite Manager, 4.7: I didn't know what to expect. I was worried about it. It was great. I had tried FTM (File Templates Manager) and never found it easy to use. It didn't even work with the default IE folder. I was told that it wasn't as sophisticated as FTM. I bought this program for the reason that it was free. I didn't expect to be hooked. All those features are the same that I used in FTM. It is easy to use, It is user friendly. And most important, when I need something the program produces the same results that I had with FTM. All my favorite folders and most other folders are in there. I am so happy with it. Pros - The program is easy to use. - You can drag and drop folder of any kind. - You can drag and drop a group of files. - Manage a huge number of folders and a huge number of files. - Very nice interface. - Very fast and responds to your commands. - The program generates the same results as FTM. - Saving and restoring a folder is very easy. Cons - It is not as functional as FTM. - It is not free. Summary: I am really satisfied with this program. It is easy to use and It does the job. It is intuitive and easy to navigate. I have saved a lot of time with it. It is simple and fast. I tried 3 or 4 free programs and was disappointed with them all. But not with this program. It does not crash on me or do not respond to my commands. I am very satisfied with it. I recommend it

FORD, Plaintiff-Appellantv.Robert J. ABBOTT, Attorney General, State of Kentucky, andJack Conway, State Attorney General, Defendants-Appellees No. 85-5969. United States Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit. Jan. 25, 1987. Before RALPH B. GUY, Jr., and BOGGS, Circuit Judges, and CONTIE, Senior Circuit Judge. ORDER 1 Plaintiff, James D. Ford, seeks review of the district court's order dismissing his civil rights action filed under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1983. The case has been referred to a panel of the court pursuant to Rule 9(a), Rules of the Sixth Circuit. Upon examination of the record and briefs, this panel unanimously agrees that oral argument is not needed. Fed.R.App.P. 34(a). 2 Ford filed this Sec. 1983 action on November 20, 1983, alleging that defendant Abbott, a Kentucky attorney, had violated his constitutional rights by attempting to coerce him into signing a confession. The district court, upon defendant's motion, dismissed Ford's complaint with prejudice. 3 As an initial matter, the district court correctly ruled that defendant Abbott was absolutely immune from suit for allegedly engaging in actions authorized by law. See Briscoe v. LaHue, 460 U.S. 325, 330-32 (1983); Harlow v. Fitzgerald, 457 U.S. 800, 818 (1982). On the other hand, Ford has not shown that the named defendant was personally involved in any of the alleged constitutional violations, and he has not shown aa67ecbc25
