Alchemy Network Inventory Review by JAR22 Rating 4 out of 5 stars August 9, 2011 I downloaded Alchemy Network Inventory last week and have been using it on... I downloaded Alchemy Network Inventory last week and have been using it on my home network. I haven't noticed any slowdowns or difficulty in using it as I have with other software... The main thing I love about this product is how it is designed. I think this is the first mobile application for network inventorying that is similar to other network inventorying software out there, such as MSn Total Network Inventory - One. The trees and tabs are nice and simple to use and everything is easily accessed. Most importantly, the product's development is managed by independent software developers. This helps keep the product fresh and up-to-date with the latest technology. Data presented The design of the tables is well-organized, with all major data presented on one page. Links are nicely placed on top of each table for easy viewing. The layout makes it very easy to scan the tables. As mentioned above, the product is developed by independent software engineers. They take great care in making sure the application works flawlessly and they provide updates on a regular basis. Usage application The user interface is very clean and intuitive. Users will spend very little time learning how to use the application. On top of that, the manual is comprehensive enough to enable users to run the application without any problems. Data collection The application works effectively and quickly. It can collect data from a few network devices at a time. Downsides The application does not identify components accurately. Q: Find the zeros of the polynomial  $x^3 - x^2 + x - 4$  I need to find the zeros of the polynomial  $x^3 - x^2 + x - 4$  can I use

Rational Root Theorem???? thank you A:

According to the Rational Root Theorem if  $f(x)$  is a polynomial with integer coefficients and  $f(x) = 0$  for all rational  $x$ , then  $f(x) = 0$  for all  $x$  of  $\mathbb{Q}$ . In your case, divide by  $x - 4$  and check the coefficient of  $x^2$ ; multiply by  $x-4$  and check the coefficient of  $x^3$ ; and multiply by  $x-4$  and check the coefficient of  $x^4$  (and so on). In more detail: check if the constant term is  $0$  (remember  $x^0=1$ ); the coefficient of  $x^2$  is  $-5$ . Is it  $0$ ? If not, check the coefficient of  $x^3$  (is it  $0$ ?). Then repeat for  $x^4$ ;  $x^5$ ; and so on. A good strategy for these sorts of problems is to form each of the polynomial's powers by subtracting  $x^k$  from  $x^{k+1}$  for  $k=0, 1, \dots$  until we are out of degree  $m$ . Then add up all of the results (in this case, the constant term of  $x^m$ ). The result must be  $0$  for all  $x$ . A: The Rational Root Theorem can be used to find all the roots and their multiplic
