Autodesk Inventor Professional 2012 X32 X64.The present disclosure relates to activity leading an individual toward a desired outcome, and more particularly, to methods and systems for providing an intervention module that enables a user to identify a desired outcome, and directs an action toward that outcome. Many individuals desire to maximize their productivity while minimizing the time spent pursuing personal goals. For example, a professional individual may desire to maximize his or her productivity while minimizing the time spent searching for new clients. Similarly, a college student may desire to minimize the time spent pursuing his or her studies while maximizing his or her productivity. In the past, seeking to maximize productivity has required manual or semi-automatic analysis of the user's time and resources to identify where more efficient use of time and resource can be gained. Sometimes a user must commit to a particular action, and may be unable to abandon that action if it becomes clear that the action would not be successful. Other times, the user may be forced to make the decision based on a one-time analysis of his or her d0c515b9f4
