The range of data includes text, video and audio clips, images, spreadsheets and documents. Many software vendors, operating under the umbrella of the data management industry, are pushing for the idea of “zero data” and want the customer to simply store data on the cloud and offsite. So why does the customer need to be worried about data being stored on the cloud if they can simply offsite data? These vendors argue that storing data on a server in the cloud is convenient, secure and easy to use.

Data warehousing and business intelligence data tools/tools and there are a plethora of tools that help people in the BI industry to ingest, clean, transform, analyze, model, model, visualize and store the data. However, regardless
