31 Mar - 5 min Annie Hall Beads and Contrastics 2.5 PS is an image and video processing tool for the Macintosh. It is used for color, contrast and image registration. You can use it to fix over-exposed, out-of-focus, poorly lit images. Q: call a PHP function from Javascript? I'm trying to call a php function from a javascript, after clicking on a button. I have tried two methods as follow var el; el = document.getElementById('4_4'); el.onclick = function() { ChangeProduct(); }; function ChangeProduct() { //code to call a function in php } when I click the button in the browser, I get the following error : Uncaught TypeError: Property 'onclick' of object # is not a function A: Try this: function ChangeProduct() { //do something; } var el; el = document.getElementById('4_4'); el.onclick = ChangeProduct; You should do: var el = document.getElementById('4_4'); el.onclick = function() { //code to call a function in php }; This should work fine. A: Make the function a method of an object i.e. var el; el = document.getElementById('4_4'); el.onclick = ChangeProduct; function ChangeProduct() { //code to call a function in php } Q: Android Record and Load Video as JPG files directly I have an app where the user can take pictures or record video and there a need to have a gallery view which allows the user to view a list of the images or video they took. I have read a few questions on this topic but all of them either talk about taking a picture and loading it in as a File in a folder, or they are just simply about recording video and then writing the video to a folder, but what I need is to record a JPG file of the video directly, so that I can use the JPG file
